

GOOD MORNING FLYNN FLYERS AND HAPPY MAY DAY!

TODAY IS FRIDAY, MAY FIRST AND HERE ARE YOUR QUICK ANNOUNCEMENTS!

I hope you are all able to get out and celebrate the first day of May and some of the traditions that come with “May Day.” May 1st is recognized by over 66 countries to celebrate the new and warm spring season! Flowers begin to really bloom during May, the cold winter and chilly part of spring give way to warm afternoons, rain showers and the wonderful sounds of birds signing!

For our weather today. Let’s hope we miss most of the possible rain that is on the radar! Even if we do get a few showers, that is A-OK as the weekend is shaping up to be one of the best we have had in a long time. Both Saturday and Sunday look to be filled with warm temperatures (70 degrees) and lots of sun!

Trivia this week is wrapping up! Be sure to locate the activity on the ECASD at home learning page under “elementary resources” and the second-grade activities. The video and information does an excellent job of explaining how our oceans became salty! You have a few more hours left to participate, and I have been getting a lot of great answers from you Flynn Flyers so keep it up!

Finally, if you haven’t had a chance to share a story with your teacher this week about something that you did that felt like a “win” please try to do that by the end of the day today! Teachers (and me) love to see and hear about these moments of grit, empathy, perseverance, and more!

*Look for my “Friday Blast” video this afternoon too! I will have some important updates to share with you all as we make our way towards the weekend!

So those are your announcements for this Friday, have a great day Flynn Flyers!
