Good Morning, Manz Third Grade Families,

We hope you are continuing to do well. We LOVE seeing all of the writing and pictures the students have been sending to us. Please encourage them to continue sending those things to us. We enjoy giving them feedback on their work and it helps us stay connected with the students.

Just a reminder that the new At Home Learning checklist for the week will be posted on the Manz website this morning. The checklist has a different look to it in hopes that it is easier for your child to use. Instead of listing assignments by subject, we have organized assignments by the day of the week.

It is important to make sure your child is spending the suggested amount of time working in each subject. We understand that as the days are getting nicer it is harder to stay focused on school tasks. Please reach out to your child's teacher if your child needs to hear this message coming from their teacher. As always, please let us know how we can help.

Have a great week!
